"We are each other's harvest; we are each other's business; we are each other's magnitude and bond."

—Gwendolyn Brooks

History

The You Matter Marathon – No running required - was founded in 2016 by Cheryl Rice. Cheryl was so touched when she received a business-sized card with only the words “You Matter” on it that she ordered her own set of cards and began giving them to others.

One particularly moving experience giving a card to a stranger in a grocery store inspired Cheryl to take the card sharing to the next level and invite others to share You Matter cards.

Since 2016 almost two million You Matter cards have been given out by more than 284,146 people in 99 countries.

YMM Vision, Mission and Core Beliefs

Vision

We envision a world where individuals naturally and regularly affirm the significance and value of one another.

Mission

The You Matter Marathon is a global initiative that creates positive connections within and between individuals and communities.

Core Beliefs

We believe that the world would be a more peaceful and joyful place if every person knew they mattered.

We believe that the path to a more peaceful and joyful world begins with daily acts of connecting in positive and sincere ways that honor our common humanity.

We believe that one way to affirm our own significance is to regularly affirm the significance of others.

Consistent with the You Matter Marathon mission, we stand with the Black community, and all people of color, and support the Black Lives Matter movement as a way to shine a light on racial inequities and injustices.

Steps to Run a Successful You Matter Marathon (YMM) in Your Organization

Determine Your Purpose

The YMM will be most effective if it ties into a specific aspect of your organization's culture. Consider what strategic imperative, company value(s), or aspect of your company mission the YMM aligns with.

Some examples: "The YMM aligns with our value of honoring differences;" "The YMM is an opportunity to support our mission of valuing our customers/patients;" or, "We plan to tie the YMM into our strategy for rewarding and retaining top talent."

Set Your Intentions

Consider what you most want to achieve by running the YMM. Is it greater engagement? Increased employee happiness? Improved interpersonal connections? All of the above? Clarifying this for yourself and your key stakeholders will help gain buy-in and commitment.

Choose Your Audience

- ❖ Which segment(s) of your organization will be involved?
- ❖ Who will be the You Matter card givers in your organization (# and title, e.g., 60 nurse managers)?
- ❖ Who do you want the You Matter cards shared with? For instance, if the card "sharers" are nurse managers, do you want them to give the cards to nurses, patients, staff or anyone they choose? While generally there is no right or wrong answer, we suggest referring back to your purpose to determine who will receive a You Matter card. We also recommend giving people as much autonomy as possible in deciding who to give a card to.
- ❖ Also consider how many You Matter cards each card giver will be invited to share.

Decide if You Will Run a Digital or Physical YMM – or both!

If you want employees sharing cards with people in multiple locations, or you're concerned about physical distancing, you may want to use our Digital You Matter card.

Digital cards can be downloaded and shared via email or internal communication channels like Slack. Sharing cards digitally may also allow more cards to be shared as the cost of cards is eliminated.

Physical YM cards work well for co-located employees or employees sharing cards with customers with whom they physically interact. They also create immediate mementos as most people keep the cards close to them – either on their desk or in their wallet or even on their home refrigerator!

Whether you use digital or physical YM cards, we'll still send you 10 cards for free and tell you how you can purchase, print, or download all the cards you'll need. We also have links in the Resource Section of this Guide.

Parameters

- ❖ Decide when your official YMM will begin and end. Many companies continue sharing the YM message even after the event is over.
- ❖ Consider if/how you will track the number of cards given out. We've found that even one card share can change two lives so don't feel pressure to measure success only by the number of cards shared.

Communication

- ❖ Consider a kick-off webinar or in-person event to launch the YMM.
- ❖ One best practice is to first share a YM card with each of the card givers (either before or during the official kick-off) so they experience the power of receiving a card before being asked to share them.
- ❖ Consider designating a private online portal for communication, stories, photos, videos. We also have a public YMM Facebook group that you are welcome to post in.

- ❖ Determine a closing event or communication where the impact is shared, stories are told, and thoughts about moving from a Marathon to a way of being are shared.
- ❖ Assess impact. Some organizations implement a formal survey to get feedback on the impact of sharing You Matter cards.

Frequently Asked Questions

Can cards be given anonymously? For instance, left on someone's desk when they aren't there?

Ideally, we encourage people to share the cards person-to-person but there can also be great joy in leaving a card for someone to find on their own. Our best advice is to mix it up.

Can we print our company logo on the back of the card?

Technically yes. Our preference is no and here's why. Most people's first reaction when given a You Matter card is to turn it over. They're primed to look for the catch. Only when they realize there is no catch do they lower their shoulders and breathe in the message. Putting anything on the back turns the card into a promotional product and dilutes the impact. That said, some people do find value in writing a personal handwritten note on the back of the card.

How Does the YMM Relate to the Black Lives Matter movement?

The You Matter Marathon exists to foster positive connections within and between individuals by encouraging people to see and value the significance of every person they encounter. We believe that the world would be a more peaceful and joyful place if everyone knew that they mattered.

Consistent with the You Matter Marathon mission, we stand with the Black community and all people of color and support the Black Lives Matter movement as a way to shine a light on racial inequities and injustices.
